LISTING OF CLAIMS:

Claims 1-25 (cancelled).

Claim 26 (original). A method for aerial spray marking of ground surfaces, said method comprising:

providing a source of a marking substance;

flying over a ground surface; and spraying a highly forceful shot of said marking substance onto said ground surface, wherein said shot is forceful enough to penetrate dense foliage.

Claim 27 (original). A method for aerial spraying of ground surfaces, said method comprising:

providing a storage tank for holding a substance to be sprayed;

pressurizing said storage tank;

supplying pressurized substance from said storage tank to a spray nozzle assembly;

flying over a target site; and selectively activating said spray nozzle assembly to spray pressurized substance onto ground surfaces.

Claim 28 22 (currently amended). The method of claim 27 wherein said storage tank is pressurized by introducing a pressurized gas into said storage tank.

Claim 29 (original). The method of claim 28 wherein said gas is an inert gas.

Claim 30 (original). The method of claim 28 further comprising sensing the pressure of said pressurized gas and shutting off supply of pressurized substance from said storage tank to said spray nozzle assembly if the sensed pressure falls below a predetermined level.

Claim 31 (original). The method of claim 28 further comprising selecting the pressure of said pressurized gas introduced into said storage tank.

Claim 32 (original). The method of claim 27 wherein said spray nozzle assembly includes a solid stream spray nozzle.

Claim 33 (original). The method of claim 32 further comprising tilting said spray nozzle to a desired angle.

Claim 34 (original). The method of claim 27 wherein a pressurized gas is used to selectively activate said spray nozzle assembly.

Claim 35 (original). The method of claim 27 wherein said substance to be sprayed is a marking substance.

Claim 36 (original). The method of claim 35 wherein said substance includes paint.

Claim 37 (original). The method of claim 35 wherein said substance includes a luminescent material.
